This Booklet ... and its Purpose

To bring to your home surroundings a touch of glorious, natural beauty every day in the year . . . to bridge between the riotous color of seasonal bloomings, the intensiveness of autumn foliage and the coming of spring time and summer . . . to show the possibility of perpetual beauty by the artistic use of Evergreen and Deciduous Trees and Shrubs . . . that is the purpose of this booklet.

Towson Nurseries is happy in presenting these suggestions and offers the cooperation and assistance of experienced nurserymen, with a wealth of sturdy nursery stock at their command, to carry out your scheme of planting for garden or estate.

EVERGREEN THORN

(Crataegus pyracantha, coccinea)

A BRILLIANT touch for the winter landscape is the Evergreen Thorn, one of Nature's liveliest allies in dispersing the gloom of the flowerless days of fall and winter. This is a dense shrub, having sturdy, graceful branchlets armed with stout thorns. It has deep, shiny green foliage; clusters of white flowers appear in the spring, which form into berries of a brilliant orange scarlet in the fall, and last until after the New Year arrives; good for specimen or hedge planting.

Plant Evergreen Thorn where passersby may see it and admire. It's a joy to share its brilliant beauty—even with unknown friends and neighbors.

EVERGREEN TREES AND SHRUBS

EVERGREENS link the seasons together in perpetual beauty. Supremely dominating the landscape with their richness in fall and winter, graciously they retire during the warmer months to form lovely backgrounds for the colorful flowerings of spring and summer. You can select complete plantings of lovely Evergreen Trees and Shrubs from the hardy, healthy stock at Towson Nurseries.

The Way Purple Spreading Juniper Grows At Towson Nurseries

*A Rare Evergreen of Distinctive Beauty . . .
Silvery green in Spring . . . the mountains' purple hue in Autumn.*

PURPLE SPREADING JUNIPER (Juniperus depressa plumosa).

Low growing and spreading in habit. It adapts itself admirably to many uses. Being very hardy, it will grow under conditions that many evergreens find unfavorable. In rock gardens, or filling-in at the base of taller-growing evergreens it is extremely useful, and in groups with other species it contrasts with pleasing effects. Its prostrate branches seldom lift themselves more than eighteen inches from the ground, and is much better adapted to low planting than Pfitzer's Juniper.

Did you dream that Junipers could be so many shapes and sizes,—low, spreading, pyramidal; columnar, creeping; almost a whole scheme of planting in one family of shrubs?

WHY NOT plant some American Holly now so you may enjoy their pleasing effect through the winter seasons to come?

AMERICAN HOLLY (Ilex opaca).

The bright red berries of our own American Holly lend a cheerful note to the landscape during the winter months. It may be used in the border planting or as a specimen and succeeds in any loamy, well-drained soil. Both the sunny and shady locations are suitable for its growth. They are very hard to transplant unless they have been properly prepared in the nursery. Ours are moved and pruned frequently and can be transplanted with safety.

Of course it seems more like Christmas with a bit of Holly actually growing on your own grounds. Why not plant it this year?

Spiny Greek Juniper.

SPINY GREEK JUNIPER

(Juniperus excelsa stricta). Rich in the texture of its foliage, the fine needles are grayish above and dark green beneath. In form it is a pointed bulb and is so compact in its growth that it has the appearance of being clipped. This is the evergreen to use for formal effects in your garden. Let us show you the finest specimens we have ever seen.

The Japanese Yew (Taxus Cuspidata) is invaluable when a spreading type is desired. A pair would go well at the entrance to the garden.

JAPANESE YEW (Taxus cuspidata).

A compact, spreading variety, deservedly popular in the American garden. It will thrive well in both sunny and partially shaded locations. The attractive dark green foliage and brilliant scarlet fruit make it invaluable for any collection. It can be massed with good effect in foundation plantings.

Size, Spread	Each	Size Spread	Each

EVERGREEN AZALEAS

THIS is a family of evergreen shrubs, all of which provide a profusion of blooms in the spring. These evergreen varieties are dwarf in habit and will stand considerable shade. They provide a good foundation for the larger evergreens and are pleasing in the shrub border as well as in masses by themselves. The glory of a colorful sunset is suggested by the marvelous tints of the thousands of Azaleas which are to be seen at the Towson Nurseries. Here we have many varieties and sizes to choose from.

AZALEA AMOENA.

Bushy, compact and perfect hardiness—these are outstanding features of this dainty evergreen shrub. The small, shiny green leaves are completely covered in spring by a blanket of rosy purple flowers. As edging for rhododendron plantings and other evergreen groups it has few equals.

By all means find some spot in your home grounds for Azaleas. Such masses of exquisite blooms belong where they can be appreciated to the utmost.

AZALEA HINODEGIRI.

This is undoubtedly the most popular of the evergreen Azaleas. The carmine-pink blossoms are produced in such profusion in the early spring that they nearly hide the foliage. The fall effect is not without interest, for then the leaves turn to an attractive bronze-green color, which lasts throughout the winter. This plant is very useful and appropriate as part of the evergreen foundation around the home.

KURUME AZALEAS

THE variety of Azaleas now available to garden and plant lovers for both indoor forcing and outdoor planting represents an almost unlimited range of color and period of bloom. This is made possible by the introduction in recent years of the Kurume Azaleas from the island of Kushu, in Japan. Their natural habitat is near the town of Kurume—hence, the name Kurume Azaleas. As yet they are very scarce, and we consider ourselves extremely fortunate in being able to offer so many fine varieties.

RHODODENDRONS

MONARCH OF THE EVERGREEN SHRUBS

THERE is no shrub superior to the Rhododendron, either as a hardy evergreen, a dark subject for screen planting, or in pleasing masses. The habit of the plant, the healthy green of its shapely foliage, and its hardy constitution are excellent qualities. To these is added the beauty of its brilliantly colored flowers, profusely borne in May and June. Our plants are fully acclimated, as they have stood the severest winters in our Nurseries.

The Rhododendron assumes the unquestionable distinction as Monarch of the Evergreen Shrubs.

Rhododendrons like moisture, both at their roots and overhead, and dislike excessive sunshine. Partial shade is always beneficial. In almost every case where the soil is not naturally suited to them it can be adapted to their needs with very little trouble or expense. As grown at Towson Nurseries, where we make a specialty of them, Rhododendrons are the perfection of flowering shrubs. We take great pleasure in inviting all admirers of Rhododendrons to visit our Nurseries during the latter part of May and early June, when our large collection of fine plants is in full bloom.

DECIDUOUS TREES AND SHRUBS

LIKE a glorious awakening from their winter's nap, deciduous trees and shrubs burst forth with leaf and bloom in spring, bringing renewed life and inspiration to all mankind. Selection of trees for shade and ornament is happily accomplished at Towson Nurseries. Many choice varieties of trees and shrubs have attained a size and growth that makes them highly desirable for immediate effect and usefulness.

RED FLOWERING DOGWOOD (Cornus florida rubra).

This tree blooms at the same season as Cornus florida and is similar except for the flowers, which are a bright pink. Planted together, these two varieties make a pleasing contrast.

EXTRA-HEAVY SPECIMENS

WASHINGTON HAWTHORN (Crataegus cordata).

A small tree with exceptionally fine fall color. The bright red berries, lasting well into the winter, add to its desirability for the shrub border.

WINGED EUONYMUS (Euonymus Alatus).

For autumn decoration and winter character this shrub is particularly appropriate. The leaves turn a vivid flame color in the fall, and when it is planted singly or in small groups in front of massed shrubbery the effect is wonderfully striking. The curious corky bark, with its winged ridges, adds a distinctive and interesting touch which is always desirable for winter variety.

HOW TO GET TO TOWSON NURSERIES

BY MOTOR

From Baltimore and points south, proceed north on Charles Street through city to Gittings Avenue. Turn right, proceed through Cedarcroft to York Road (end of Gittings Avenue). Turn left on York Road to Towson Nurseries, about 2 miles distant.

From York, Harrisburg, Belair, Philadelphia and points north, proceed to Towson, the county seat of Baltimore County, Md.; then drive about one-half mile south on the York Road, the main thoroughfare through Towson.

BY TROLLEY

Take Towson trolley, cars number 8, direct to our office and nurseries.

A welcome awaits you. We shall appreciate your visit, and promise to make it enjoyable.

To Our Customers

Our greatest desire in transacting business with our customers is for mutual satisfaction. Therefore, we outline our policies and terms, so there may be no possibility of a misunderstanding.

Guarantee and Claims

All goods are guaranteed true to name, dug properly, and in good condition when shipped. Any plant which is untrue to name will be replaced. As we have no control over its usage after it leaves our hands, properly packed and in good condition, we cannot guarantee the life of stock. Claims must be made within five days after receipt of goods. Stock delivered as per order and in good condition is not returnable.

Next in importance to the production of good trees and plants is proper planting. To this end we have developed an organization that is competent to furnish planting suggestions for any type of home and to handle any planting, large or small—or will cooperate with any landscape architect you may choose.

Planting Season

The spring planting season begins usually between March 1st and March 15th, and continues until the last of May.

The fall planting season begins about August 15th and continues until the ground freezes, the last of December.

Shipping

Give explicit directions as to address and mode of shipment. Shipments will be forwarded exactly as directed, but when we have no instructions they will be forwarded by the shortest and safest route. We recommend that all herbaceous plants be shipped by express. Arrangements can be made for distance deliveries by motor trucks of full truck loads if desired.

Inspection

Our stock is regularly inspected and a certificate sent with each shipment.

Prices

Prices in this booklet cancel all previous prices and are subject to change without notice. Our prices are for local delivery.

STOCK SPECIALLY SELECTED by customers at the Nurseries will be charged for according to the value of the trees chosen, irrespective of catalogue list price. The prices in this booklet are for stock of our selection.

Terms: Cash with order, except to persons who satisfy us as to their responsibility. Accounts will be due in 30 days.

Mr. L. C. Corbett,
Senior Horticulturist in Charge,
Bureau of Plant Industry,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

It is a pleasure to send you a copy of our special supplement to Towson Nurseries General Catalog.

Whether you like to get down-to-earth, with your sleeves rolled up, to plan and plant your grounds;
or whether you prefer to entrust this work to us, this new supplement will be of especial interest to you.

It is now the middle of February and much too cool to be planting flowers, shrubs, and evergreens, but it is, nevertheless, just the right time to begin to think of it.

After you have read this booklet, there may be some point pertaining to your planting which you would like to discuss with us. We are always interested and willing to help in arranging your planting most attractively.

Very truly yours,

TOWSON NURSERIES, Inc.
